Government Sets "Early Sale" for Labor Camp Here

The U. S. department of agriculture has announced that the Twin Falls farm labor camp will be sold to some eligible group in the near future.

Roy C. Lane, Idaho representative for the department of agriculture, production and marketing administration, labor branch, is in Twin Falls preparing to accept bids for the camp from some local groups.

The center was built by the federal government in 1939 and operated primarily as a migrant farm labor center until last August. From August to Dec. 31, 1947, the center was operated by the Amalgamated Sugar company and since that date it has been operated by the Twin Falls Labor Sponsoring association.

The center has a capacity of about 1,200 persons or 258 families and has been used extensively by migrant families seeking field work in the Twin Falls area.

Government Out

Government operation of all farm labor camps was stopped Sept. 30, 1947, because of a lack of funds. Under the law they may not be operated by the government after Jan. 30, 1948. Nearly all of the permanent camps and some of the temporary ones are being continued in operation under use permits with public agencies and non-profit groups.

In selling the camps, the government has to be assured that purchasers will continue to operate them for farm labor. Should the camps be operated for any other purpose, the title will revert back to the government.

Preference Given

Under a law passed by congress, first purchase rights go to public and semi-public agencies and non-profit farmers' associations.

Hint Discloses U. S. Seeking Spy Ring Nab

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — A hint that the justice department is seeking indictment of a suspected spy ring was dropped today during the congressional uproar over Dr. Edward U. Condon.

Representative Nixon, R., Calif., tossed it out at a house un-American activities committee meeting where the commerce department stuck by its guns and refused again to hand over its loyalty records on Condon.

Representative Rankin, D., Miss., had proposed that the committee make public all its records on Condon.

Would Prejudice Jury

Nixon objected. He said a New York grand jury is investigating spying by Americans and aliens. He said its findings might be "prejudiced" if the complete files were made public.

John L. Towne, secretary of the department's loyalty board, went before the committee in response to a subpoena directing that he show up with the papers.

But he didn't have the papers. Nor would he answer questions about them.

Refuses Records

Secretary of Commerce Harriman advised the committee by letter last night that the records would WASHI... The GOP ... ations co... anti-race d... the labor ... security appropriations bill.

Members said the vote was 25 to 6 to strike out the provision. Southern Democrats on the committee, who led the 3½-hour fight to get rid of the clause, were jubilant at their victory.

Grants Barred

The provision would have barred the use of federal security funds for grants of any kind to educational institution which discriminated against race, creed or color.

Federal security agency grants go to states for such purposes as old age benefits and aid to dependent children and to the blind. Educational institutions receive grants for such things as adult education, vocational education and coordination of research activities.

Request Is Slashed

The committee finally approved the bill which carried $30,119,379 less than President Truman had asked for the labor department, the FSA and four related agencies.

The appropriations bill carried a total of $905,405,250 for the labor department, the federal security agency, the national labor relations board, the national mediation board, railroad retirement board, and federal mediation and conciliation service. In addition, the measure provided contract authority of $122,545,750 for hospital construction by the federal security agency.

Demand Increase Hikes Bean Price

Renewed demand for beans has led to an increase of about $1 in quoted prices, according to Jack P. Smith, general manager of the Bean Growers Warehouse association.

Although there has been an increase in demand, the supply of beans offered for sale has not increased noticeably, Smith said. It is probable that growers are holding beans for another increase in price, he indicated.

The government, which is again buying beans after quitting the market recently, is not offering the prices quoted by private buyers, Smith said the market was "jittery."

Local dealers quoted Great Northern No. 1 beans at $8.75, No. 2 beans at $8.50, Small reds No. 1 at $9 and Small reds No. 2 at $8.75, an average of 75 cents above the most recent quotations.

Liberty Clean-up

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Wanted: $1,000,000 to clean up the mess around the statue of liberty.

Seventeen New York and New Jersey congress members agreed today that the famous monument in New York harbor is standing in a slum.

So, they have asked the house appropriations committee to do something about it, to the tune of a million dollars. The cleanup delegation includes Republicans, Democrats and American Laborites.

Land Hearing Scheduled for Protest Meet

BURLEY, March 5—The protest meeting of the Twin Falls district advisory board of the U.S. bureau of land management went into its second day Friday in Burley with protests scheduled to be heard from area graziers.

The board is reviewing applications of graziers made in January. Protests are being made by cattlemen who feel they did not receive a proper allotment of grazing land from the government.

Discusses Problems

At the board meeting Thursday, Kelso P. Newman, Portland, Ore., regional grazier, discussed range management problems, and Leon R. Nadau, Portland, conservation officer in charge of soil moisture, discussed range improvement work.

Talks also were given by Tom Murray, head of the state fish and game department, and Warren Lowery, conservation officer.

Board Listed

Members of the advisory board are Dan J. Cavanagh, Twin Falls, chairman; Russell O. Larson, Kimberly, Wesley Ward, Elba; A. D. Pierce, Malta; George C. Booth, Jerome; Vern Eames, American Falls; Max D. Cohn, Pocatello; Jesse H. Dredge and Millis T. Jones, Malad, and Reed A. Larkin, Snowville, Utah.

The meetings are held in the grazing district office in Burley with James F. Keith, district grazier, in charge.

Businessmen Told to Take on Government Duty or Lose Out

BOISE, March 5 (UP)—The nation's businessmen must make the nation's government their business, else the capitalistic system may not survive, Said O. Shreve, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Shreve, talking at a noon luncheon attended by business and industrial leaders from over southern Idaho, pleaded with his listeners to take a more active part in politics.

"Biggest Business"

"And I mean politics," said Shreve. "Today government is our biggest business. And government begins at the political party level. In a democracy you can't divorce politics from government."

Shreve, who is vice president of the General Electric company, said that in his travels over America he found that "businessmen do not realize fully their obligations to their country."

"Not Deserving"

"Sometimes," he said, "I think businessmen didn't deserve good government. For years, politics was a phase of American life upon which the businessman turned thumbs down. For years, businessmen sat back and let the ward heelers run municipal, state and even national politics. Then, when the elections were over, the businessmen still were indifferent to see that legislation reflected soundness and wisdom."

"We dare not sit back," said Shreve, "and let more vociferous groups give false guidance in national affairs. National affairs are the businessman's business. And this is one time none of us should take offense when we're told to mind our own business."

Klan Leader Protests Social Equality

Farm Leaders Slate Meeting On Price Hike

Idaho's agricultural leaders will meet here tomorrow at a special session of the Idaho agricultural council to discuss ways and means of halting farm price declines.

The meeting was called by the council president, Ben Johnson, Preston, shortly after the commodity market slump early in February. Most of the state's many agricultural groups are represented on the council.

Experts in their specialized agricultural field will be featured at the meeting. N. V. Sharp, Filer, said the [illegible] would start at 10 a. m. at the Park hotel.

The speakers will include, F. P. Champ, Salt Lake City banker; John Breckenridge, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Wool Growers' association; Quince Rice, Boise, state production and marketing administration committee; Elwood Williams, Ogden, manager of the Intermountain Grain Growers cooperative; and Elder Ezra C. Benson, Salt Lake City, one of the 12 apostles, LDS church.

Other organizations expected to be represented are the Idaho Grange, Idaho Farm Bureau, Idaho Dairymen's association, Idaho Poultrymen, Idaho Potato Growers cooperative at Idaho Falls, Idaho Beet Growers, Idaho Cattlemen, Idaho Pea Growers, Idaho Bean Growers and Eastern Idaho Grain Growers.

Fog Delays Ship Carrying Relief Foods to Europe

BREMEN, Germany, March 5 (AP) —The U.S. ship Gretna Victory, carrying American food to Germany and Austria, was reported fog-bound today, and displaced persons camp officials said she was scheduled to dock yesterday.

Waiting in Bremen to welcome the ship are five representatives of areas which donated the gifts last December and January.

They are Richard McKinney, Portland, Ore.; Joseph Schlower, Glasgow, Mont.; Otto J. Botine, Twin Falls, Ida.; Mrs. Otis S. Lamson, Seattle, and Ralph Bartholomew, Ketchikan, Alaska.

The representatives will make a tour of relief agencies, charitable organizations and displaced persons camps in western Germany and Austria, after distribution of the food.

RECEIVES CABLEGRAM

According to a cablegram received in Twin Falls by Mrs. Botine, the party expects to remain in Bremen until March 10 before starting a tour of areas in which "Christmas ship" food will be distributed.

U. S. Accepts Soviet Split Plan Revisions

LAKE SUCCESS, March 5 (AP)—The United States today accepted a series of Russian amendments in efforts to line up Soviet support on American proposals for meeting the Palestine partition crisis.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin said he agreed to several changes in plan as suggested by Russia. This was the first yielding on the American Palestine position in the United Nations security council.

Austin told the council it was done in efforts to 'establish harmony between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Agree to Confer

As the council went into a luncheon recess, Austin and Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko agreed to confer off the floor in a move for complete agreement.

Austin accepted a Soviet suggestion for private big power consultation outside the range of the council rather than in a big five committee formally responsible to the council. In pressing this point, Gromyko emphasized that Britain had spurned participation in any committee seeking methods to carry out partition.

15-Day Parley Agreed

Austin also agreed to give the big powers a maximum of 15 days to consult. Presumably the council would not discuss Palestine in that period.

The United States, however, held firm to its demand that the council vote today on accepting the general assembly's decision to partition the holy land into Jewish and Arab nations by Oct. 1.

The U. S.-Soviet harmony moves came on top of these developments in the debate:

Jews "Determined"

1. The Jewish agency for Palestine informed the council in effect that it was determined to go ahead with creation of a Jewish nation.

2. With the U. S. spearheading the opposition, the council rejected a proposal from Colombia to recess debate for a week without any specific provision for big power talks. Only Syria, an Arab nation, backed up Colombia.

The only vote at the morning session was on the Colombian proposal.

WALLACE SETS "LEAGUE"

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Henry Wallace today announced formation of an "informal" Freedom league because, he said, "the time has come for those of us who believe in old-fashioned Americanism to fight back."

Truman Ends Tours, Heads Into Troubles

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UP)—President Truman today returns from vacation to a mess of political trouble.

The President returned from Florida this afternoon and was due to begin getting the bad news when he meets with his cabinet.

Palestine is high on the trouble list. New York Democratic leaders have bolted Mr. Truman's Palestine policy. They have put on the pressure for change to appease angry voters.

Would Lift Embargo

State Chairman Paul Fitzpatrick announced this week that Mr. Truman had approved in principle a New York state Democratic committee pledge that our arms embargo against Palestine would be lifted. That is one of the issues which is hurting Democrats and helping Henry A. Wallace's third party in big Jewish centers of the United States.

But Mr. Truman's cabinet advisers probably will be compelled to report that lifting the embargo will not still the clamor of protest in New York and other big Jewish centers against his Palestine policy. What those voters want is affirmative United States action to make partition of Palestine and creation of a Jewish homeland come true soon.

Revolt Problem Tougher

Civil rights and the southern rebellion make an even tougher problem for the President. Within the week of his return to Washington there was aggressive and significant action against his nomination for

30 Arabs Dead in Four-Hour Fight

JERUSALEM, March 5 (AP) — Haganah said today 30 Arabs were killed and many were wounded in a four-hour battle with Jews last night on the plains of Sharon between Tel Aviv and Haifa.

The battle erupted when Arabs attacked a Jewish settlement at Magdiel on the Tel Aviv-Haifa highway, said a communique of the Jewish militia issued in Tel Aviv.

It was learned in Jerusalem that Fawzi Bey al Kaukji, commander of Arab volunteer armies, set up headquarters in a hotel at Nablus, in northern Palestine, Fawzi Bey summoned his district chieftains for conferences.

Petrillo Defiance Set by Recorder

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 (UP)—A record manufacturer announced today that he will defy the American Federation of Musicians' ban on recordings.

Harry Schooler, president of the Mardi Gras Record company, said he will put six numbers on wax Monday. Musicians were secured through a union-sanctioned booking organization.

Bands led by Charlie Gates, Lionel Goodman and Gene Keene will record six numbers.

Idaho Power Gets Okay to Construct New Dam at Bliss

Construction of a 100-foot concrete dam six miles west of Bliss on Snake river will be started immediately, Ralph W. Carpenter, Twin Falls, Idaho Power company division manager, said Thursday. A 50-year license was granted the company Thursday by the federal power commission to build a hydro-electric project on the Snake river to serve Elmore and Gooding counties, according to the Associated Press.

The project, to be known as the Bliss development, would include a reservoir extending upstream for five miles, a power house with initial installation of about 69,000 kilowatts in three units and provision for the installation of a fourth unit. Water will be backed up to a point just below a bridge downstream from the town.

To Cost $10,000,000

Construction of the project expected to cost more than $10,000,000, will take from 18 months to two years to complete, Carpenter said.

Original plans called for the inclusion of Twin Falls county in the project but engineering difficulties forced the company to move the dam site down stream and exclude Twin Falls, Carpenter stated.

The license, according to the news service, contains conditions satisfactory to the army engineers and interior department. Plans have been considered by these departments in the same area for reclamation purposes.

Conditions of the license relative to the corps of engineers and interior department were not made known and Carpenter was unable to explain them.

Fifth Project

Company officials pointed out this is the fifth power project in the Hagerman-Bliss area to be undertaken since the end of the war. The Upper Salmon Falls plant near Hagerman was completed last September and three other projects in that area are now under construction.

Work is under way on two power projects on the Malad river which empties into Snake river near Hagerman, and a project on the lower Salmon Falls on the Snake.

Political Curb Is "Bondage," CIO Declares

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UP) — The CIO today denounced the Taft-Hartley act's ban on union political activity as an attempt to place the American working man "in permanent political bondage."

CIO lawyers made the attack in asking a federal court here to declare the ban unconstitutional. They assailed it as a "menace to the civil rights of unpopular minorities" and an infringement on "that most vital of all liberties"—freedom of speech and press.

"No Rights Infringed"

Justice department lawyers said in reply that no constitutional rights were infringed by the no-politics provision. They said it was a legitimate move by congress to enforce "neutrality on labor organizations and management corporations in the limited field of federal elections."

In challenging the ban, the CIO sought dismissal of a grand jury indictment accusing the CIO and its president, Philip Murray, of violations. They face charges it illegally participating in the campaign of Edward A. Garmatz, a Democrat, in a special Maryland congressional election last summer.

Early Ruling Sought

Murray's attorneys told the court they wanted an early ruling on the question of constitutionality because of the nearness of the coming elections, "which present issues . . . of tremendous importance to working people of America."

The act forbids labor unions and corporations to make any expenditure —direct or indirect—in behalf of any candidate in a federal election primary or convention. If this provision is held constitutional, Murray is scheduled to go on trial March 22.

Czech Leader Denies Benes 'Replacement'

PRAGUE, March 5 (AP)—Communist Premier Klement Gottwald's denial of the denial today that Pres. Eduard Benes is being replaced because of illness.

"The president is very tired and it is not known when he can come back to Prague," Premier Zdenek Necasek, chief of the premier's press section. "We do not know how long he may be ill. There has been no consideration given to any replacement or successor for him and, if any such step is taken, it will be according to the constitution."

7-Year Term

Benes, a founder of the country, was elected to a seven-year term in 1946. The constitution provides that if the president is unable to do his work for six months, three-fourths of the cabinet may decide to name a deputy vice president. He then would be elected by three-fifths of a quorum in parliament.

Necasek said Benes would be unable to speak in Prague tomorrow at the celebration of the battle of Sokolov, in which Czech soldiers fought alongside the red army.

Benes is reported at Pilsen.

"The premier asked permission to represent him at the celebration," the press officer said. "That was all."

The communists gained full control of Czechoslovakia Feb. 25 and have consolidated power while preserving the facade of a coalition government.

Those Price Index Headlines Based on Plenty of 'Finicky Shopping' by Experts

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UP) — The tall blonde with the briefcase under her arm stepped up to the salesman and said:

"I want an all-wool, hard-finished worsted, single-breasted man's suit, with hand-made buttonholes and hand-felted collar and sleeve linings, full cut, and sheik.13 to 13½ ounces a yard. What's the price?"

"About $58," said Edward Jacobs, assistant buyers for men's clothing at a department store here.

Jacobs didn't bat an eye. He recognized the finicky shopper as Olga Larsgaard, field representative for the labor department's bureau of labor statistics.

She is one of about 120 BLS field workers who shop 56 cities of the nation to find out if pants and pineapples, girdles and gasoline cost more this month than last.

As Jacobs lifted a suit from the rack Miss Larsgaard took a specification manual from her briefcase and turned to "M-035, reg." This lists the requirements for the suit she was price testing. Then she examined the tailoring and cut, noted the lining, and fingered the fabric.

"What was the price of this suit last month?" she asked.

"$55," Jacobs replied.

What's the reason for the increase? Did they have labor trouble in that plant?

"No, the company granted a wage increase which is reflected in the cost to us."

Miss Larsgaard dutifully wrote the answers in the "commodity schedule," from which price changes are tabulated.

There is a great deal more work before a single sampling like this becomes headlines in a BLS monthly report which says, "consumers' prices reach peak in mid-January, 71 per cent above pre-war," or "retail food prices 1.4 per cent higher in January than in December."

To get the nationwide picture, BLS checks the prices of 177 commodities and services in 19 big cities every month, and in 24 other cities quarterly.

Every month agents in 56 cities check the prices of seven cereals and bakery products, 12 kinds of meat, poultry and fish, six dairy products, 18 types of fresh canned and dried vegetables, and beverages, fats, oils, sugar and sweets.

Thirty-four agents collect fuel prices monthly in as many cities, and check rents there four times a year.

All told the field representatives must keep an eye on 49 foods, 58 articles of clothing, 10 fuels, 23 kinds of house furnishings, 49 miscellaneous goods and services—dental fillings to shoe repairs—and rents.

A 1935-1939 price base of 100 is used to indicate whether prices are up or down from those levels. The latest pricing, Jan. 15, 1948, logged "all items" at 168.3, or 68.8 per cent above the base level for all cities. "All foods" averages 209.7; apparel 192.1, rent 115.9, fuel, 129.5, house-furnishings 192.3, and miscellaneous 146.6.

Three Finland Parties Stand Against Soviet

HELSINKI, March 5 (UP)—Three political parties took firm stands today against all or parts of a Soviet proposal for negotiations on an alliance with Finland.

Committees of the parliamentary delegations of the Conservative, Liberal and Liberal Populist parties on Pres. Juho K. Paasikivi and tendered negative recommendations.

The conservative and liberal committees rejected the proposal of the Soviet proposal to negotiate. The agrarian group said it could not accept any Finnish-Soviet pact on the pattern of Russia's agreements with Hungary and Romania.

Military Pact Opposed

Juhl Kolvisto, leader of the agrarian group, said after the visit to the presidential palace that it strongly opposed a military pact with Russia. He refused to say whether it opposed negotiations.

The liberals informed the president that in their opinion Finland should refuse to take up negotiations with Russia on Premier Josef Stalin's proposal.

"Prejudicial Influence"

"Such a pact would have prejudicial influence upon Finland, and bring no benefit which is not already included in the peace treaty provisions, and in the present state of conditions reached on the basis of that treaty," a liberal statement said.

Despite the attitude of the parties, an informed source reported that Paasikivi probably already had selected delegates to negotiate with Russia. The newspaper Nya Pressen said negotiators would be appointed not later than tomorrow.

Ranger Lists March Depths Of Snow Fall

To record March snowfall figures, Forest Ranger Lewis Clark completed a three-day trip through the Magic Mountain and Bostetter areas Wednesday. Accompanied by Claude Jones and Richard White, Clarke made a 36-mile ski journey through the area although the trip was hampered by a foot of new snow and high winds.

On the Magic Mountain course, an average depth of 46 inches of snow was measured with a water content of 12.71 inches. On the Bostetter course 8 miles to the Goose creek drainage, the party found an average depth of 50 inches with a water content of 13.43 inches, while an average depth of snow was 53.3 inches with a water content of 13.7 inches.

In March 1947, the snow depth at Magic Mountain was 32.6 inches, and in 1946 it was 51 inches. No comparative figures are available for the Bostetter courses, but at all points the 1948 snow depth is below normal, Clark announced.

The route covered by Clark's party crossed the highest point in the Cassia division of the Minidoka national forest.

Alcohol 'Kick' Predicted for Auto Engines

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

OMAHA, March 5 (AP)—Putting an alcoholic kick into auto engines may bring a day of:

High-power performance on low-grade gasoline.

Trucks and autos climbing hills in high instead of creeping up in low.

Economical driving on the flat, with a ready surge of power when needed.

Part of your power coming from corn cobs, or grains.

How Described

These possibilities from use of alcohol as liquid fuel were described today by Dr. G. E. Hilbert, director of the northern regional research laboratory, U. S. department of agriculture, at Peoria, Ill., to the National Farm Chemurgic council conference. There are some "ifs and buts."

A gallon of alcohol can be blended with nine gallons of low-grade gasoline to make 10 gallons of premium anti-knock fuel, he said. The blends wouldn't require any changes in engine design or readjustment.

Planes Used Trick

Something different, for the rats burst of power, are gadgets already available which can inject mixtures of alcohol and water. This was done with airplanes during the war. The alcohol injections would take trucks up hills high.

Such power is needed only occasionally. The rest of the time engines could operate on cheaper, lower octane gasoline. This would save our reserves, for it takes more crude oil to produce high-octane gasoline.

The bigest "if" is the present high price of alcohol, Dr. Hilbert said.

None Injured in Crash of Autos

No one was injured at 7 p. m. Thursday when automobiles operated by Byron G. Greener, Burley, and A. H. Utter, route 1, Hansen, collided four miles west of Hansen on U. S. highway 30.

Damage, estimated at more than $300 to each machine, resulted when the Greener machine ran into the rear of the Utter car as Utter began to left turn as Greener started to pass, the investigating state police officer said. Both vehicles were going the same direction.

In the Greener vehicle, coming to Twin Falls for the basketball tournament, were Naomi and Glenna Loveless, Earl McBride, Keith Greener and Donald Greener, all Burley.

Utter was alone in his machine, the officer reported.

$4,257 Asked In Case Over Car Accident

A $4,257 action for injuries allegedly sustained in a collision between a bus and an automobile trailer May 31, 1946, near Filer, was entered in district court Friday by Allen R. Scheurer and his wife, Maggie H. Schoerer.

Defendants named in the suit are J. Ted Davis, owner of the bus involved in the accident and C. W. and Rose McClain, owner and operator of the other vehicles in the crash.

The injuries were sustained by Mrs. Scheurer, the petition claims, when the trailer towed by the McClain car came loose, swung over to the left side of the road, and was rammed by the bus.

Mrs. Scheurer allegedly was riding in the bus at the time of the collision and the impact injured her nose, left leg and ankle and caused severe loss of blood necessitating medical care. The extent of the injuries, including court costs, have been fixed at $4,257.50.

Truman Ends Tours, Heads Into Troubles

(From Page One)

President in Tennessee, Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas, and in congress.

In the same period Virginia Democratic leaders backed down somewhat but did not abandon their plan to withhold the state's electoral vote for Mr. Truman if he sticks by his civil rights program.

The test of Tennessee Democratic Boss E. H. Crump's Monday comment on Mr. Truman has just reached here. Goggle-eyed Washingtonians are reading it in amazed fascination at the old man's wrath. Crump spent last week-end taking the waters at Hot Springs, Ark., and returned home to announce he would vote for any Democrat he voted for any except Mr. Truman. He added, in part:

"The south has had enough of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Ally-Den, Tom C. Clark, Robert E. Hannegan and Pauley. Mrs. Roosevelt frogging around with her communist associates in America has practically been Truman's mentor. The time has come for a showdown in the south.

"There was some more, but that is a fair sample.

Lonesome Pal Brings Naught But Troubles

SACRAMENTO, March 5 (UP) — Leonard L. Ward had good reason to be mad as he sat in county jail today.

Already serving a 155-day term, he now faced possible burglary charges—and all because his buddy was so lonesome that he wanted to join Ward in jail.

Story Related

The story, as related by Deputy Sheriff Charles Goodman, goes like this:

Lawrence Story, 24, a maintenance man in the Willets, Calif., hospital, came into the sheriff's office and asked to be locked up. "My buddy's in jail," he said. "Now I'm alone. I might as well be with him."

He told Goodman he ought to be in jail because he had helped his friend, Ward, in the theft of 350 grain sacks from a Courtland, Calif., farmer, and a dozen gasoline drums from another farmer in Walnut Grove.

Jailed for Drunk Driving

That was news to Goodman. Ward was serving time all right, but not for theft. He had been jailed for drunk driving.

Goodman said that Ward, confronted with the tale, confessed that he and Story had done the burglaries.

The deputy did not report what Ward said to his lonely pal when Story joined him in the cell.

Wife's Battles to Release Husband From Pen Ended

CANON CITY, Colo., March 5 (AP) —A 22-year-old Minneapolis waitress was choked with joy and "feeling wonderful" last night at the successful culmination of "four long years" of effort to have her husband, "Slippery Del" Hanlon, paroled from prison.

"I've been under an awful nervous strain," said Mrs. Ruth Dallhunt (Hanlon's real name), "but I'm feeling wonderful now."

Colorado prison officials said they would release Hanlon Saturday.

She said her husband has been promised employment in a stamp and die works.

Hanlon was convicted 24 years ago of a Denver filling station robbery. His sentence was commuted in 1933 but he was free only nine months. He was returned to prison after being accused of participating in a restaurant robbery although he was never tried on the charge.

The "Slippery Del" nickname was given him for leading an escape from the Denver county jail.

Idaho Tops U. S. In Deposits Raise

BOISE, March 5 (AP)—Idaho state chartered banks topped the national rate of deposit increases in 1947.

E. P. Haworth, state finance commissioner, said Idaho state banks registered a 16 per cent increase in total demand and time deposits or $9,000,000 more from Dec. 31, 1946, to the same date in 1947.

He said deposits in state supervised banks for the last six months of 1947 for the entire nation increased only 4.78 per cent.

Idaho state bank demand deposits increased from $72,969,536 to $80,594,304 in the 12-month period. Time deposits increased from $18,452,149 to $19,941,796.

Public Officials Praise Work Of Red Cross in Recent Years

Various public service officials in Twin Falls have given high praise to the work that the American Red Cross has done in the past few years in supplying immediate relief for emergency cases which no other agency is equipped to handle.

Because of its location on the north-south highway route and the large influx of farm labor every year, Twin Falls is faced with many transient relief cases which do not come under the jurisdiction of the department of public assistance or the county commissioners.

M. W. Moore, county supervisor of the department of public assistance, says, "The Red Cross chapter in Twin Falls has been most cooperative in working with our agency, particularly in providing needs we could not meet. They have never refused to consider and assist any case referred to them by our office."

The director of the labor camp, Floyd Bandy, speaks of the "hang-up job" that the Red Cross has done in caring for the many cases that have come from the labor camp.

In 1947 the local office spent $14,869 in handling between 110 and 180 relief cases a month. In November, 104 of the 180 cases were ex-service men. That month and in December an average of 27 civilian individuals or families applied to the Red Cross for temporary relief, an appalling figure for a community with no city relief agency.

The funds for the maintenance of this relief program came from the collections made in the 1947 fund drive. With unemployment on the increase, it is expected that the case load will grow this year and along with inflated prices, will further weight the Red Cross' burden.

A. J. Meeks, manager of the Idaho state employment service office says that the Red Cross has done "marvelous things" in assisting his office. He explained that often jobs are available for people who have no funds for subsistance until their paycheck arrives. In such cases, the Red Cross is called on for immediate aid.

Meeks says, "the Red Cross helps the employment service, the community and the employer as well as the employe."

Another agency which relies upon the Red Cross for immediate emergency aid is the south central district health unit. Dorothy Collard, supervising nurse, described the loan closet, equipped by the Red Cross, which has sheets, bedding and various equipment available for needy persons suffering from illness or accident. A wheelchair and a hospital bed are also loaned by the local office when a need arises.

Needy persons requiring glasses or tonsilectomies are often financed by the Red Cross, according to Miss Collard.

The relief of needs in the community is one of the outstanding contributions of the local chapter of the Red Cross. The success and extent of such service depends directly on the generosity of Twin Falls people during the fund drive, now in process for 1948.

During March, volunteer workers are canvassing the residential and business districts. Any person not contacted by the workers may make his contribution at fund campaign headquarters at the Idaho Power company.

EXPLAIN IT, MR. WALLACE!

If the only reason for Premier Stalin's postwar policy is fear of American "imperialism," it is unlikely that he would have okayed the communist coup in Czechoslovakia. If he had any regard for the American third party that would guarantee peace by giving him free rein, he probably would not have embarrassed that third party by this aggressive act.

The third party has every reason to be embarrassed. For President Benes gave the communists as free a rein as was possible and still preserve a semblance of parliamentary democracy. And the Russian-directed communists showed their appreciation by seizing complete control of the Czech government.

There was a bit of window-dressing to justify the communists' action. But even they don't seem to take it very seriously. The communist-led police searched the National Socialist party headquarters for several hours on the first day of the uprising and "discovered" documents supposedly revealing a conspiracy of armed revolt against the state.

The communists' subsequent actions were not what would be used to quell a revolt against the status quo. In the first place, they destroyed the status quo. They did such things as turn the legal owners out of factories and other business places and replace them with "national managers." This scarcely comes under the head of defense measures.

There seems to have been no bitter opposition to the communists in Czechoslovakia so long as they operated within the framework of the republic and permitted some democratic freedoms. As President Benes said, "It is clear to me that socialism is a way of life desired by an overwhelming part of our nation." But he added, "I believe that with socialism a certain measure of freedom and unity is possible and that these are vital principles to all in our national life."

But that did not square with communist policy. It was not enough to have the biggest popular vote and majority control of the cabinet and parliament. The pattern of terror and tyranny had to be repeated, for communism seems to know no other way. So free Czechoslovakia is no more.

Czechoslovakia did not oppose Russia. She was a neighbor and an ally. She was not militaristic or imperialistic or capitalistic. She did not threaten or demand. Her only sins were independence and freedom. In short, she was about what Henry Wallace and the third party would have this country become as a means of ensuring peace.

It seems to us that Czechoslovakia's fate is a challenge to Mr. Wallace and his theories. Thus far he has parried the challenge by saying, "It is impossible to know what the truth is from the American press." The American press can endure the insult. But the insult is no answer to give the voters whose support Mr. Wallace is seeking.

A policy of softness and subserrience cost Czechoslovakia her freedom. Would the same policy satisfy Russia and preserve freedom in the rest of Europe if the United States should adopt it? That is a question which Mr. Wallace must answer honestly if he is to justify the claim that his political gospel holds the key to world peace.

SPORTS ORGANIZATIONS

Tom Murray, director of the Idaho fish and game department, made a good suggestion in his talk at the Idaho Fish and Game association's annual banquet the other night.

He emphasized the need for "young blood" in the various sports organizations with the explanation that "when the average age in any group is over 40, then the organization begins to stand still or recede in the importance of its activity."

There are two general classifications of hunters and fishermen—those who actively engage in these sports and the others who get into the spirit of the thing through conversation around some comfortable fireside. Generally speaking, it's largely a matter of age. Those who are wading the streams and climbing the mountains today are the fireside sportsmen of tomorrow.

There is no denying that the conversational conservationists can still play an important part in the realm of outdoor sports, but it takes a certain percentage of those young fellows who are right out there on the front to get the job done.

As Tom Murray suggests, that's a good thing for all sports organizations to bear in mind, unless they want to go to seed. That's true of any organization.

LOST SHEEP

Recent meetings of southern governors and "old New Deal" liberals indicate that both groups, for different reasons, aren't enthusiastic about President Truman, Henry Wallace, or any presidential candidate the Republicans might name.

A possible cure for this political homelessness might be for these poor little lambs who have gone astray to get together and form a "Wallfenpoof party."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—Rarely have American businessmen, especially top industrialists, fallen under such heavy fire as they have at the present moment on and off capitol hill. The strange feature of the current attack is that it comes from normally conservative legislators, government officials and corporation spokesmen.

That downeaster, Sen. Owen Brewster, Me., is no radical or halter of "the interests." But he has been shocked by Controller General J. Lindsay Warren's revelations that one-fifth of the war contracts sampled by his small staff of field agents were colored by "unprecedented fraud." And because of the form of the laws governing these deals, hardly a cent can be recovered, whether the losses resulted from "outrageous carelessness or just plain pimping."

• • •

INFLATIONARY—The steel industry's recent price increase has inspired sporadic demands that it may be necessary to subject so important a production unit to federal responsibility or regulation. Although no endorser to this viewpoint, Sen. Robert A. Taft, O., was moved to conduct a formal investigation of the boost.

His action tends to support some colleagues' contention that steel dominates the national economy to such a degree that it may be necessary to define it as "affected by the public interest."

Numerous corporation heads, who have been or will be pinched by higher costs of steel, have severely criticized the move as a dangerously inflationary move. And there are reports that makers of price policies in the industry are concerned over the effect of their decision, even though they maintain that their own increased expenses justify it.

• • •

WARNING—As former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston federal reserve bank, Vermont Sen. Ralph E. Flanders has never been accused of demagoguery. But he served a warning note on fellow-Republicans after his committee's study of the effect of high living costs on low-income groups.

After listing old people living on annuities, wage earners, government employes, teachers, educators and social welfare workers, he said:

"When I consider the serious difficulties in which school teachers and preachers, particularly young ones, find themselves I am astonished that radicalism has not gained a stronger hold on this influential group of citizens.

"Let me suggest to my fellow-Republicans that there is a party necessity, because it is a human necessity, to recognize the difficulties in which these great groups, numbering many millions, find themselves . . .

"For our party, the safest political strategy is to recognize the problems of these people, not only politically, but with the heart and head."

• • •

RESPONSIBILITY—Elwin G. Nourse, chairman of President Truman's council of economic advisers, has remained out of the present controversy and discussion. But before he took his present post, he indicated that he might favor federal regulation of such a giant industry as steel.

In his book, entitled "Price Making in a Democracy," he insists that there is a difference between fixing rates in vast, free markets and in those where the producer enjoys such control that he can set the pace for both allied and other industries. In the latter field he suggests that there might have to be what he describes as "administered prices"—administered, that is, by the government.

Where a few executives enjoy such power, Dr. Nourse warns, they must employ it with a great sense of responsibility or subject its use to public control.

In their private discussions of possible political effects of soaring prices, these men think it significant that Henry A. Wallace and Earl K. Long staged their political triumphs, in New York and Louisiana respectively, on the wave of popular protests against mounting inflation.

• • •

RADICAL—A bright gleam in the otherwise gloomy politico-economic skies appeared a few days ago, although it received scant attention outside labor circles. The attempt of a radical CIO union to obtain control of employes of a key railroad in the steel and coal area was defeated.

The CIO's "United Railroad Workers" petitioned the national mediation board for an election to determine whether they or the existing AFL unit would represent the waymen. In this initial attempt to obtain control of an important transportation system, the invaders are reported to have conducted a long organizing campaign and to have spent large sums of money.

They were repulsed by a 60 per cent majority in favor of the rival organization, although the CIO is supposed to dominate the steel area. Railroad leaders regard the outcome as evidence that radical groups cannot win a foothold in transportation, although this is one of the industries which various elements in the CIO would like to take over for obvious reasons. It would give them a stranglehold on the railroad system in peace or wartime.

• • •

AGREEMENT—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge's friends in Massachusetts are hoping for "breaks" that will spot light him for possible mention for the presidency on the Republican ticket. They are not waging an aggressive or offensive campaign as yet, but will not pass up any opportunity between now and the convention.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr., is supposed to have the Bay state delegation tied up, and he probably has. But if the first prize should fall to Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., Lodge's friends think he might favor the senator because of their agreement on general foreign policy.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

"CRIMINAL PAROLES"

Too frequently, in Idaho and elsewhere, people are protesting the parole of men who have been convicted of murder.

It is difficult to understand such leniency, upon the part of officials, toward criminals, and especially murderers. The criminal who is being extended this leniency, showed very little leniency or mercy for his victim and the victim's family.

If there is going to be any sentiment, let it be bestowed upon the families of the victims—not the criminals.

When a judge and jury cause a man to be sentenced to life, or to die, for murder, after a just trial, it is perfectly asinine to permit some other group of men to parole that murderer, after a few years, or permit some governor to commute his sentence to life imprisonment, so that the murderer may later be paroled. He is either guilty, or not guilty, and his behavior while in prison has no bearing on his guilt, nor his ability to behave himself outside of prison.

Our nationwide system of giving criminals "time off for good behavior" while they are in prison is perfectly silly. Why shouldn't they be "good boys" while they are there? Why shouldn't their sentences be increased if they are not "good boys"? Any person with an ounce of brains should know enough to behave himself while he is behind thick stone walls and under heavy guard.

There's a lot of talk and effort about "crime prevention" and yet our public officials, of one kind or another, are guilty of turning criminals loose to prey upon the peaceful public again and again. The life of an innocent victim, in the future, should obviously be worth much more to society than the life of a criminal who has had one or more opportunities to live within the laws of God and man.

When are we going to put a stop to "criminal paroles?" When are those with such supreme power going to realize that since a high percentage of our crimes are committed by repeaters, whom they free, they themselves are partially responsible for the next crimes of those paroles?—Buhl Herald.

POT SHOTS

POOR ADDITION

Hey Pot Shots:

In the Sunday morning Times-News of Feb 29, you have a picture of Charles Leonard Short's new U. S. flag. (Page 14) He may be an amateur geometrician but he must be less that that in arithmetic. When I count the stars, I find there are 56.

Is there some mistake in making the flag or have these good old United States changed that much since I got out of school?

Walter Leitch
(Buhl)

More to the point, the picture claims Short is pointing to the 49th star in his flag. We claim the particular star he's indicating is either No. 50 or No. 56. We supposed the extra seven stars represented Alaska, Hawaii, Panama canal zone, Texas Hollywood, Los Angeles and Sun Valley. By the way, Missus Pot Shots would like to know why you happened to count those stars!

NO APPRECIATION

Dear Pot Shots:

Most auburn-haired old maids (don't have auburn hair in the first place)) would appreciate someone like "Pal" to help them out of the rut. It couldn't be that green-eyed monster, jealousy, that is bothering her, could it? Maybe the old maid's afraid she won't get to size them all up.

My qualifications are white, free, respectable, honorable, humorous, don't smoke, chew, drink of perfume, like all kinds of good, clean fun out in the open.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Westbrook Pegler

Donald Day, who lived in Europe many years after the first World war, has been detained by the Americans in Germany where he was picked up after the collapse in 1945. He seems to have been suspected of collaboration on the ground that he didn't come home when he could have.

Another exile in a similar fix, Robert Best, has been brought back and accused of treason, which turns out to be a charge more easily made than made to stick. I could tell Best's jury that I believed he was spying on the American and British correspondents in Vienna, where he lived, a dissolute gigolo, and, in the light of later developments, that he probably was informing the Austrians and Russians on the Americans who spoke freely on the assumption that their little conversations were a family affair.

The other Americans who later were interned with him in Germany until the exchange could be arranged and saw him jump ship in Lisbon to return to Germany may have some evidence.

• • •

We haven't had much luck with our treason charges and I still have to dissent from the life sentence passed on Douglas Chandler, a moderately wealthy Baltimore fellow, who gladly admitted that he broadcast propaganda from Germany which was pro-nazi to the extent that it was anti-communistic.

Hatred of communism and of the Russian monster of Stalin, rather than affection for Hitler, the Germans and the similarly atrocious Nazi philosophy, seems to be the story of most of our defendants.

Day became a specialist in Finnish and other Baltic affairs and in the Russian dictatorship as seen from a close observation post as a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. A colleague who once got him out of a French clink says he is a nut.

You may judge in a minute whether he speaks sense, bearing in mind that many of us thought Henry Ford was crazy until he finally despaired of ever finding any sense in the human race on the subject of war.

Many elders of American horse-racing, prize fighting and all such endearing depravities will recall Day's dad, John I. Day, known everywhere as John one, a great character who cheated death every second for 25 years or more and never gave it a thought.

John one had a terrible heart so he put himself on a rigid regimen of cigarettes, whisky, late hours and the exciting life-work of hurling around the barns and paddocks, through the crowds and up the ladders to the officials' stands at horse yards all over the country. Thus he prolonged his life to a nice old age.

Another child of his, Dorothy, went haywire over bolshevism and lived her life in her own way in the manner of Greenwich village and other slums of the mind until she embraced Catholicism. Since then she has been wilder than ever but with fury against suffering, inhumanity, injustice and communism, too.

So they are not a conservative family and if Donald Day does "get pinkkid" and pour ice-water on himself, as a friend who saw him overseas allows he does, maybe he just likes to do that. He doesn't pour ice-water on you. Does he? Do we confine people for playing golf? I am skeptical of such business.

Ezra Pound, the poet, who has been praised rapturously by many of our greatest writers and talents of literature, was charged with treason in Rome, brought home and locked up for crazy in Washington, D. C., but it happens that Pound was seized up in the Doering hotel in Rome in New York along with Henry Wallace.

Had they tried him for treason he would have had the right to call Wallace as a witness and make him admit his ridiculous and evil implication in this mess. It was a great convenience to Wallace to find Pound crazy and lock him up.

Here is word from Don Day at Kyrsinster 9, Bad Tolz, Obb Germany:

"Although I was screened for visa two months ago I have heard nothing about returning home. I have a hunch they will let me remain here until someone recalls that I was a pioneer in reporting the true nature of bolshevism (that is true, he was. W. P) and that my predicament is due to the fact that I have always been anti-communism rather than pro-nazi.

"It sure is funny that Bullitt, Lyons, Chamberlain and Louis Fischer, who for years is caviar in Moscow and made easy money writing Soviet publicity and denouncing my reports from Riga, are all now making equally big money writing against bolshevism while fate has placed me on the shelf. But I am content to wait. I have sent home manuscript of a book. We will see what will happen.

"Among our Christmas mail was a letter from Demaree Bess (Saturday Evening Post fellow described by Joe Marsh in his ludicrous "Mission to Moscow" as clear-headed and a natural conservative. W. P.) which I might use for a testimonial.

"He wrote that on visits to our home in Riga and Helsinki just before and during the war he did not find that I had any nazi or German sympathies, that we scarcely mentioned Germany but that we did talk about Russia. And, he writes, unfortunately, much of what I predicted has come true.

"Here the battle of the epoch is beginning between the American dollar and communist propaganda. I think we have about a 50-50 chance. The weakest point of the Marshall plan is its emphasis on policy of non-interference with the internal affairs of the nations we are trying to help.

"In 1922 we loaned Poland $25,000,000 and appointed Charles Dewey financial dictator in Warsaw. He put Poland on her feet. Por us to think the corrupt and grafting politicians of France, Italy and Austria are any better than the corrupt and grafting Poles (or Roosevelts or Pendergasts or Curleys, eh? W. P.) is a mistake which may prove our undoing.

"In Germany our policy has changed very radically in the last year. It is less a New York policy and more an American one."

Don hoped to return to Finland for his furniture "after the June elections," but the Russians knocked that idea on the head while the letter was on the way.

"It was terrible to see the destruction of the Baltic states (all three absorbed by Russia just as Hitler sucked in Austria. W. P.) and the fate of our friends of 20 years. (Mrs. Day is a white Russian. W. P.)

"If the Finns go under I don't think there's much hope. President Risto Ryti was my friend for years and is certainly the finest gentleman I met in Europe. He is serving 10 years imposed by the communists. Morally and spiritually, Finland is worth all the rest of Europe."

They may make Emily Post the new traffic commissioner of California.

They will if they follow the suggestion of Helen Hittson's one woman safety campaign.

Miss Hittson sent $10 to a stranger for her "expert and courteous" driving. She said she'd always believed that good and courteous drivers should be rewarded.

One California driver thinks her idea is crazy. He says "courteous drivers are a threat to our way of life."

Bob Hope

But if the traffic commission takes this idea seriously, California pedestrians will be getting a sporting chance. The drivers will have to let them step into the street before they go after them.

They'll probably start new rules. You won't be able to plunge into a crowd haphazardly. You'll have to call your shots.

I did hear of one guy who thinks it's right for a driver to be polite. In fact, he chased a blonde in a convertible for 10 miles just so he could tip his hat.

But I think it's a good idea to give out bonuses for being considerate to other drivers. Of course, a lot of people will get paid just for staying home.

Long-Standing Gap in Mural Gets Attention

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, March 5 (U.P.)—Uncle Sam needs $20,000 to finish a paint job.

That's how much Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio reckons it will cost to close the most unsightly gap in the capitol. He has introduced a bill to do it. The "gap" is a 26-foot unpainted patch in the historical frieze that rims the rotunda of the building. How it got there is an interesting story.

Harman Nichols

An exile Italian artist named Constantino Brumidi had spent 24 years dabbing about the capitol, doing many of the priceless murals that remain there today. All of them, though, were warmups to his greatest ambition—to decorate the rotunda.

In 1877, congress decided it was easier to give in than to argue with the man who signed his work "C. Brumidi, U. S. citizen." The original plan had been for sculpture, but Brumidi, being a brush man, sold congress on paint. There were to be 15 panels, nine feet high and totaling 300 feet in circumference. The first panel was to show the landing of Columbus. The last was to depict the pick and shovel crews which discovered gold in California.

The white-bearded Italian rigged up yards and yards of ropes and supported them with pulleys. Then he had himself hiked up the 56 feet to the scene banding the rotunda, and went to work. For three years he was a familiar figure to tourists as he swiped away.

But Brumidi was aging. When he took the job he was 72 and his brush hand was shaky; his foot unsteady. As he was working on the seventh panel (Penn making a treaty with the Indians), he fell from the scaffolding. His injuries were said at the time to be slight, but he never went up there again. A month after the fall he died.

Congress looked at the unfinished symphony in color and put the finger on the only man it knew who might finish the job. That was one Filipo Costaggino, Brumidi's understudy.

There was a scalawag, that Costaggino. What do you suppose he did? Instead of going ahead imitating the great one, he added a few curlycues of his own. Cartoons, yet. Very little of his stuff matched that of the master. In fact to the congress of 1880 it looked silly. One legend is that Costaggino died. Another is that he got the sack, which is more likely.

At any rate, he left the 26-foot gap, which is still there. A dozen or so congressess since have suggested doing something about it. After World war I, congress hired an American, one Charles A. Whipple, to brush up some battle scenes. He rubbed away for a time on what he called "The Spirit of 1917." The fine arts commission ordered it washed off.

Once, a little later, some expert suggested that the treasury department look through its convict files for a money forger and see if any of them could copy Brumidi. That didn't work, either.

Representative Jenkins' idea now is to fill the gap with a painting honoring the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur. It would cost $20,000.

Some think the whole thing ought to be done over for the sake of matching patterns. That would cost, ah, a million, maybe.

And that would hurt old Brumidi. He did his painting for less than $8 a day, plus eats.

'Super Council' Idea Spurred Thought on Military Alliances

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The proposal of a group of senators for a super-security council outside the United Nations was shortlived, but has served to accelerate consideration of the military relations of the United States with other non-communist countries.

The state department says it may be able to develop a policy on the subject after England, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands have decided what they want to do about the proposed western European economic and military union. They are now conferring in Brussels.

Senator Ball and his friends suggested that the U. N. security council members—with Russia eligible but expected to stay out—organize to act militarily, by majority vote, against aggression or subversion.

Senator Vandenburg immediately pointed out numerous reasons why the United States could not enter into an arrangement which would permit other countries to vote us into war at will.

It was obvious, too, that such a council would blow up at any time a majority tried to vote a major power into a war of which it did not approve. That's why there had to be a veto in the U. N. security council.

Nobody, however, questioned Senator Ball's statement that, if Russia would not cooperate, "it is high time that the rest of the nations that want security and independence get together and do something."

Well, the pattern has already been laid in the western hemisphere, and without going outside the United Nations. A regional pact says, in effect, that all will go to the defense of any one.

It appears likely that such a pact will grow out of the Brussels conference and that it will eventually by extended to include all of the non-communist countries over there. Even traditionally neutral Sweden is being told by its press and individual officials that there is no longer any neutral ground in the cold war. Nor, inferentially, in any hot war which may grow out of it.

The U. S. may, however, have to signify its intentions before the Europeans can act. Even a union of western Europe would not be able to stand alone if the Russians should decide to throw the red army into their effort to spread communism throughout the world. Only with the unrestrained support of the United States would the bloc be strong enough to withstand Russia, and therefore so strong that it could maintain peace by making an attack suicidal.

The corollary, of course, is that there is no use building a dam halfway across a stream. A military alliance with western Europe would in turn be ineffectual unless we also established road-blocks against aggression around Russia's entire periphery—middle eastern and Asiatic.

Such a system of military alliances would mean a drastic revision of traditional American policy. But it may be the only method of convincing Russia she is running the risk of something nobody wants, and it's about time she started tempering her aspirations to the will of world opinion.

Group Admits 'Call-Dodging' Of Physicians

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—"Many physicians do dodge the making of calls on patients in the late hours of the night or early morning."

The journal of the American Medical association made this assertion today in commenting on recent complaints of this nature from "many sections of the country."

"Exchanges" Set up

Some cities, the journal reported, have set up machinery for meeting the demands for emergency medical service 24 hours a day through a physicians' telephone exchange.

The exchange maintains a list of physicians willing to make calls at night or to respond to the calls of persons unknown to them.

"Actually, comparatively few 'night calls' are so urgent that harm would result from postponing responses until morning," the journal said.

Explanations Not Accepted

"Nevertheless, the patient who suffers pain or the mother who is frightened over a condition in her child that she does not understand is little interested in explanations as to the percentage of emergency calls that are not really emergencies."

The journal quoted the principles of ethics which read:

"A physician is free to choose whom he will serve. He should, however, always respond to any request for his assistance in an emergency or whenever temperate public opinion expects his service."

Navy Scuttles "Mighty P" at Pacific Island

PEARL HARBOR, March 5 (AP)—The battleship Pennsylvania, survivor of the Pearl Harbor debacle and two atomic blasts, was scuttled near Kwajalein Feb. 10, the navy had announced today.

"Damage received at Okinawa was mainly responsible for the Pennsylvania's unseaworthiness and not radiance incident during the atomic bomb tests" at Bikini in July, 1946, the navy said.

Two other warships termed victims of "progressive deterioration," also were scuttled last month. They were the destroyer Tripoe, sunk Feb. 2, and the attack transport Bannes, sunk Feb. 16.

The navy said the Pennsylvania could not have remained afloat much longer in Kwajalein lagoon. She was towed there after the Bikini atom tests. She was considered a possible exception for targeting if she sank in the lagoon as did the Prinz Eugen. Both were guinea pigs of the Bikini tests.

The "Mighty P," as the navy called her, recovered from the Pearl Harbor attack to strike at the Japanese 13 times with 11,000,000 pounds of steel—more than was fired by any other battleship in history.

Off Okinawa, 50 hours before the war ended, an aerial torpedo ripped the Pennsylvania's stern and killed 20 men.

She was commissioned March 18, 1915. She carried 12 14-inch guns, 16 five-inchers and many smaller weapons.

This is how the Pennsylvania ended her days:

Sixteen sailors manned her on the last run.

She rode ignominiously at the end of a tow hawser, her once powerful engines silent. At the designated spot, the crew opened the sea-cocks, removed the condenser plates, scrambled to the deck and boarded a tug.

Her stern dropped beneath the waves, but for two and a half hours the Pennsylvania resisted her fate while navy ships circled overhead. Then she slipped to her grave.

The navy said the three ships sunk were radioactive to a degree that they can be used for scrap without extensive decontamination.

The cost of decontamination, the navy added, would far exceed any scrap value.

Points for School Legislation Aired

BOISE, March 5 (AP)—Points to a comprehensive educational program to be submitted before the 1949 legislature were discussed yesterday by 32 representatives of teacher, trustee, parent-teacher and state agencies.

Alton B. Jones, state superintendent of public instruction, said discussions centered on additional needed services of the state department and various corrective legislative proposals affecting the educational system.

Gov. C. A. Robins has requested all state agencies to present proposals for corrective legislation before the next session.

Meyers Is 'Hero' To His Neighbors

WASHINGTON, March 5 (UP)—Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, who was branded by army superiors as a "disgrace to the uniform," was a hero today to residents of the fashionable Stoneleigh court apartments.

The retired air force purchasing officer who is on trial for subornation of perjury, turned in the alarm when fire broke out last night in the 112-apartment building.

Then Meyers and an elevator operator aerated fire extinguishers and battled the flames until firemen arrived. They were credited with confining the blaze to an eighth floor suite.

Elevator Planned

SWAN LAKE, March 5 (AP)—Construction of a $40,000 all-steel grain elevator will begin early next week, Ram Robinson, manager of the Downey Grain Growers' cooperative, Inc., announced.

The new elevator will have a capacity of 50,000 bushels and is expected to be in operation by the first part of August.

Abundance Policy Principles Discussed by County Council

Discussing principles of the U. S. government's program to effect a long-range policy of abundance in American agriculture, the county U. S. department of agriculture council held its monthly meeting here Thursday at the council offices.

Considering the plan as it effects Magic Valley agriculture, Council Chairman C. W. Day issued questionnaires to committee members to determine farmers' reaction in this area. The forms will be distributed among farmers.

The five major objectives of the policy are:

1. An agriculture that will supply all U. S. people the kinds and quantities of agricultural products to meet U. S. needs.

2. Fair prices for the people in agriculture and income parity with the returns of those in other fields of work who make comparable contribution to the general welfare.

3. Greater efficiency in both production and distribution for the benefit of producers and consumers.

4. An improved standard of nutrition and progressively better standards with farm families sharing in the general improvement.

5. Wise use of agricultural resources so that these resources will be permanently useful.

The outline of the plan, drawn up by Day, was a revision of a former plan issued by the state department of agriculture. It was decided to have the questionnaires completed before the next council meeting. At that time they would be summarized and the summary returned to state headquarters.

In connection with the long-range abundance plan, farm labor problems and controlled production were among points briefly discussed during the meeting.

Committee members present were Day, J. W. McDowell, John Bennett, Lewis Clark, L. W. Sandberg, Leonard Winkle, J. R. Douglas and Ben Jansen.

Mrs. Otto Schild, sr., president, conducted a brief business meeting and a vocal trio of Mrs. Ray Terry, Mrs. Z. W. Pond and Mrs. Dorothy Gehrig presented several selections. Mrs. J. E. Mackinder was initiated into the club.

Philadelphia 'Met' Is Gutted by Fire

PHILADELPHIA, March 5 (AP)—Wind-whipped flames early today destroyed the Met, Philadelphia boxing arena and former opera house.

The interior of the building at Broad and Poplar streets was completely burned out, including the boxes where Philadelphia socialites once gathered to hear singing stars.

Built in 1908 as the Metropolitan opera house, the Met was owned first by the late Oscar Hammerstein, who sold his interest in 1910. The theater continued in use for opera until 1920 and then became in succession a vaudeville playhouse, dance hall and sports arena. The Met was purchased in 1944 by James Toppi, jr., Philadelphia sports promoter.

Doctors Says Infants 'Tiny —But Tough'

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—The new born baby is tiny—but tough.

In many ways, he makes a full-grown adult stack up like a No. 1 sissy.

Dr. Clement Andrew Smith, assistant professor of pediatrics at Harvard medical school, listed these among baby's strong points:

Babies have been known to go five, 10 and even as long as 14 minutes without breathing immediately after birth.

Body Heat Varied

The body temperatures of babies exposed to chilling or covered by too many blankets have ranged from less than 90 to 102 degrees.

"These changes in internal temperature will not do baby any particular good, but on the other hand neither do they signify as much harm as they might in an adult," he said at a clinical conference of the Chicago Medical society.

Babies apparently are born with more water in their bodies at birth than after. For this reason, it is sometimes considered wise not to feed them for two up to five days after birth. This is especially true of premature infants.

Disadvantages Also

Baby also has disavantages, too, the first being his small size. A baby has proportionately a much larger surface area than an adult. That causes a heavy loss of body heat. To make up for this an infant must breath faster and his heart beats faster.

Dr. Smith suggested that doctors regard babies as "extraordinary organism—not merely miniature children."

"We often feel that more harm is done by overtreating newborn patients than by undertreating them," he said.

Minidoka County Polio Treatment Office Is Moved

RUPERT, March 5 — Transfer of the Minidoka county polio treatment therapy center from the courthouse to an office in Dr. E. H. Elmore's clinic was announced at a meeting of the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Tuesday.

The chapter will pay a small fee for the use of the reception and therapy rooms. The cost will be defrayed by the Minidoka and Cassia chapters by a scale of charges based on the number of patients receiving treatment.

A therapist from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will continue bi-weekly visits as long as treatments are required for patients returned from the Boise treatment center.

Estes Rowland, march of dimes campaign manager, reported that a net of $6,342.16 was collected in the polio fund drive. He said Minidoka county ranks third in the state on a per capita contribution basis.

The group gave Rowland a vote of thanks for his work in the campaign. Mrs. John Garro, county chairman of the chapter, presided at the meeting.

Forest Legislation Topic of Conclave

BOISE, March 5 (AP)—Discussion of a proposed forestry legislation program to submit to the 1949 legislature will highlight the March 15 meeting of the state cooperative board of forestry.

Stanton Ready, state forester, said the group also would discuss forest insect control methods and a farm forestry plan.

Members of the board are Gov. C. A. Robins, Secy. of State J. D. (Cy) Price, Atty.-Gen. Robert E. Smylie, State Auditor N. F. Nelson, Alton B. Jones, state superintendent of public instruction; Edward Woozley, state land commissioner; Mark R. Kulp, state reclamation engineer; George Beardmore of Lewiston, representative of Potlatch Forests, Inc.; H. C. Shellworth, Boise, manager of the land department of Boise-Payette Lumber company; D. S. Jeffers, dean of the University of Idaho school of forestry; D. Sid Smith, Shoshone, livestock industry representative, and Albert M. Cockrell, Orangeville, U. S. forest service representative.

Irish 'Good Samaritan' Takes 39 Years Proving He's Right

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Pete McCarthy, an Irish version of the good samaritan, has spent 39 happy years proving it's more fun to give than to receive.

"I want to be the friend of the least, the last and the lost," he humbly decided long ago.

BOYLE

He picked as his field of labor a saloon-ridden street in Joliet, Ill., known as "Whisky row." And it then was a rough and rocky stretch than the thief-haunted road between Jerusalem and Jericho traveled by the good samaritan of old.

McCarthy established his famous Morning Star mission there in 1908. He did it with a Bible in one hand and a sandwich in the other—believing that "race does not fill a man's stomach and creed does not cover his back."

Since then he has fed more than 265,000 men, women and children, provided beds for 95,000, converted 13,000 at the mission's small altar and made 12,000 visits to police courts and jails.

In his youth Pete had been a boxer and street fighter, bartender and barber. In 1901 he helped carry in furniture for a young minister who was moving in next door to him. He became interested in religion and finally decided to establish a mission on Whisky row, where 27 nationalities lived and 63 per cent of Joliet's crime was committed.

He rented a two-story brick building and sold his own house and two other pieces of property. The first night in his mission, he put a kerosene lamp on the floor, knelt and prayed.

"I promised God that I would never take up a collection in the mission," she said, "and I promised that I would feed the hungry, clothe the naked and visit those who were sick or in prison."

He has kept that pledge. No one has been turned away except "when he was full or the mission was."

His efforts were ridiculed at first. Bricks were hurled through his windows. But when he finally exhausted his own funds the city's business men began coming to his rescue. Money was raised to buy the mission building for him. Now it receives two per cent of Joliet's annual Community chest funds.

McCarthy has gone the good samaritan one better—by going to look for people in distress. His daytime office is a downtown street corner where he cheerily greets friends and arranges to help those in need. Although he will be 81 years old this St. Patrick's day, he also still makes a daily round of the police station, courts, jail and railroad and bus stations.

McCarthy asks no questions of those who came to him for aid or advice. He has helped derelicts, lovers, the destitute, worried businessmen, runaway youngsters.

Pete presses religion on no man. But he believes that none of the world's large or small controversies can be settled except by having "the spirit of the Master in our hearts.

"God gave us two commandments: 'Love God, and love thy neighbor.' And our neighbor is the one who is in need.

"Kindness is the language that even the deaf can hear and the dumb can understand."

Pete has been poor but cheerful and happy for four decades. His personal creed:

"The breast is the temple; the earth is the altar; the heart the sacrifice—and you the priest. And you will have to settle your plan for salvation between here and the cemetery.

"No one can be saved for you, no one can die for you and no one can be put in the grave for you."

Tax "Expert" Sought; Used "Fading" Ink

NEWARK, N. J., March 5 (AP) — The internal revenue office said today it was investigating a part-time "income tax expert" who got big refunds for his clients but kept his own signature off their falsified reports by attesting to them with disappearing ink.

Revenue officials said the case was one of eight seasonal "experts" who have set up shop in assorted stores and offices and whose returns are being probed because of a steady stream of large refunds listed for their clients.

The man who used the disappearing ink was described by revenue agents as a barber who was filling out tax forms between hair cuts. His signature would disappear from the forms shortly after he prepared them, revenue officials said, but chemical treatment of the paper brought out the name and led investigating agents to his shop.

Agents said he had prepared 450 forms at fees from $5 to $20 and had written up $75,000 in refunds. Three hundred fourteen of his clients were interviewed by the internal revenue agents.

Several of them said they had protested the falsifications but quoted the "expert" as saying they had nothing to worry about—his signature was attesting to the report and any official query would come to him.

What they didn't know, however, was that his signature disappeared after the report had been finished.

Soil Testing for Minidoka Farms Is Now Scheduled

RUPERT, March 5—Soil testing equipment for assisting farmers with their soil problems has been obtained by the Minidoka county extension office, County Agent Willard E. Kunz announced Friday.

Kunz explained that chemical analysis of a properly taken soil sample is of assistance in determining causes for abnormal crop growth. Soil testing also can be used to determine soil deficiencies and in most cases is accurate enough to determine plant needs.

Farmers interested in having an analysis made of their soil should contact the county agent's office for instructions before taking a soil sample, Kunz said.

To cove the cost of the chemicals and hiring of a part-time operator, $1 per sample will be charged.

5-Nation Unity Meeting Gets Postponement

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 5 (AP) — A five-nation conference on proposed western European union to buck communism skipped today's meeting because of the absence of two key delegates.

An official communique, issued at the Belgian foreign ministry, said resumption of the conference has been postponed till tomorrow.

The postponement was agreed upon, the communique said, because two delegates carrying instructions from their governments have not yet arrived.

Fogs Delay Envoys

The two are Gladwyn Jebb, second British delegate, and M. Chauvel, general secretary of the French foreign ministry. Both were held up by a thick fog in the North sea.

The five neighboring countries previously had intended to take up a draft agreement today, and some conference sources had predicted a general understanding by Sunday.

Draft Presented

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg presented the draft yesterday in the first session of their talks with Great Britain and France, held at the invitation of the two big powers. A communique said it showed "great similarity of views."

Diplomatic circles said one outcome probably will be a five-nation treaty of mutual defense for at least 50 years.

Early Sale of Worker Camp Is Scheduled

camp are received from public or farm groups, the government is authorized to sell the camp to the highest bidder with no restriction to its future use.

Land Offered

In addition to the Twin Falls center, the government owns two small pieces of land adjacent to the center which will be sold in the immediate future to the highest bidder.

A committee of Mayor H. G. Lauterbach, Charles Colner, Jr., Curtis Eaton and Ben F. Jansen was appointed in January to confer with Gov. C. A. Robins in an attempt to get the camp turned over to either the county or city.

Mayor Lauterbach reported Friday that neither the city or county has funds to purchase the camp, but he felt it should be turned over to one of the two groups in the interest of proper management.

Mayor Lauterbach also pointed out that the county commissioners were not too enthusiastic about accepting the camp for the county, but that the city would be anxious to have the camp for farm labor

Homesteading for Vets Reported at Minidoka Project

SALT LAKE CITY, March 5 (AP)—More uniform operations among regional offices of the U. S. bureau of reclamation were sought at a week-long meeting of western reclamation officials which closed today.

Recommendations of the officials from 17 states will be sent to headquarters in Washington, Floyd E. Dominy, chief of the bureau's allocation division in Washington, said.

E. J. Ute, of the land use and settlement division, outlined qualifications of veterans for settlement on public lands within irrigation development districts.

Ute said limited opportunities for homesteading are available at projects at Klamath Falls, Ore.; Gila, Ariz.; Minidoka, Ida., and the Heart Mountain unit at Shoshone, Wyo.

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Case

Suit for divorce on grounds of cruelty was filed in district court Friday by Mrs. Rosie Graybill against her husband, Carl A. Graybill.

In her petition, Mrs. Graybill, who was married in January, 1936, claims she has been subjected to physical pain and humiliation by her husband.

She asks the custody of four minor children, $100 a month for their support, all community property owned by the couple and $250 court costs.

Jurors Dismissed

Jurors serving in the March term of district court were dismissed Friday and the two remaining civil actions on the calendar carried over to the next session, scheduled to start April 19.

The suits slated to receive new dates are William Lanting vs. Earl D. Hutchinson and the $2,378 case of James B. Brennan against Homer F. and Viola M. Rumseyer.

Driver Fined $100

A fine of $100 and $3 court costs was imposed Friday on George E. Keating, 1409 Sixth avenue east, who was cited for drunken driving. Justice of the Peace James O. Pumphrey picked up Keating's driver's license and liquor permit.

'Grabs' By Russia Overshadow Hitler

These maps show how communists have gobbled up more land and people than Adolf Hitler did in his pre-war expansion that shocked the world. Before the nazis invaded Poland, they had taken control of more than 100,000 square miles outside the old Reich, containing some 28 million people. Map at right shows Hitler's territorial grabs. Contrast it with the one below, showing the spread of communist-dominated governments and additions to the Soviet union itself. Russia and other communists took over more than 680,000 square miles with more than 110 million people outside the USSR. In addition to the European expansion shown on the map, the Yalta pact, Feb. 2, 1945, gave Russia the Kurile islands in the Pacific and half of Sakhalin, totaling 17,878 square miles, population 350,000.

Confusing

POCATELLO, March 5 (AP) — This is rather confused but it seems to make sense to co-eds at Idaho State college.

Women students will select the "ugliest man" at the annual ISC barn dance March 20. But don't worry, men, you don't have to be homely. As explained by Shirley Dick of Idaho Falls, president of the Delta Epsilon Kappa sorority, he (the ugliest man) just has to be sort of—well, let's see—not the face-that-stops-the-clock type, but on the other hand—well, not exactly the most handsome man on the campus, except he has to be popular and —well, sort of a "character," in the modern sense of the word, Miss Dick concluded.

Any of you characters answer that description?

Buhl Kiwanis Club Winner of Award

Winner of the 1947 Kiwanis club division 3 community service award was the Buhl club, an Associated Press dispatch from Salt Lake City said Friday.

The Buhl club was one of 11 receiving awards announced by a board headed by W. A. Hopper, Boise, district governor.

Caldwell won an achievement award and tied for first place with Emmett and Nampa for the division 4 community service award.

Vets' Housing Loan Termed Biggest "Gyp"

SALT LAKE CITY, March 5 (AP)—The federal housing administration home loan insurance plan has inflicted "the worst gyp in history" on World war II veterans, western lumbermen were told.

Carl C. Crow, Portland, Ore., editor of "Crow's Weekly Letter," a market and production analysis sheet, also branded the program as unsound and inflationary.

"People may not like what I'm going to say," he told delegates to the Intermountain Lumber Dealers association convention yesterday, "but it is the truth."

Crow gave examples of transactions in which he said contractors and speculators had acquired building sites in Portland, shifting the title from one corporation to another, with each taking "an exorbitant profit."

"They have built unsound buildings, paying any kind of prices for materials and labor and then obtained FHA-insured loans up to 90 per cent of the inflated values," he said. Crow added that builders in those instances "slip out from under" with no out-of-pocket cost.

"Too many crocodile tears" have been shed in Washington about housing for veterans, Crow charged, while a program was advanced which enabled ex-servicemen to contract for homes they cannot afford to buy.

Crow predicted that the government would be called "to make good" on "a goodly percentage of the $18,-300,137,000" in FHA-insured loans, and said legitimate builders are not able to compete with "Jerry-built" FHA homes.

"No banker would take a loan on his own responsibility on terms and security made possible through FHA," he continued.

Court Case Asks Payment of $400

Suit for the alleged non-payment of the remainder of debt on a $700 house trailer was entered in probate court Friday by Emma and Weaver Douglas against Don and Fanny Alger.

Acting as administrators of the estate of Howard Douglas, the plaintiffs claim a house trailer was purchased in December, 1946, by the Algers from their father for a $240 down payment with the agreement that the remainder would be paid off in monthly installments.

Up until April, 1947, they claim, $80 was paid on the debt, and then the payments ceased. The Douglas petition asks payment of $400, including court costs, to cover the remainder of the alleged debt.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

In a recent woman's magazine, a man urges American women to take more of an interest in their husbands' careers, both for the sake of helping their husbands get ahead and of making the marriage itself more successful.

There's nothing wrong with the advice. Except it should have appeared in a man's magazine and been directed toward men.

For it is the man who decides whether or not he is going to take his wife into his confidence.

It's a rare woman who doesn't want to know about a man's job. Most women at the beginning of their marriages are vitally interested in their husbands' jobs. They want to know what they do all day long. They would like to share their worries and triumphs.

But, after being rebuffed a few times for showing their interest, they resign themselves to living in one daytime world and letting their men live in another.

Too many men, even today when women are generally as well educated as their husbands' think that a woman who stays at home all day long can't possibly understand what goes on in the world of business.

So they shut their wives out of their business lives. There is nothing the wives can do about it, except complain that "George never tells me anything."

No wife can identify herself with her husband's career, unless he wants her to. So it's really up to the men.

New Cowboy Manager to Be Welcomed Here With Banquet March 15

Charlie Metro, the new manager of the Cowboys, will be welcomed to the Magic Valley at a banquet to be staged at 8 p. m., March 15, at the American Legion hall. The banquet is being sponsored by a group of local sportsmen.

Metro will come here from his home in Kentucky especially for the banquet and to become acquainted with the Magic Valley fans. He will leave here for the Cowboy training camp at Agua Caliente, Calif.

High school coaches and others affiliated with athletics in this area have been sent special invitations. A program is being arranged.

Tickets already have been placed on sale at the Brunswick, Dell's Sporter, Bo's and KVMV.

POCATELLO, March 5 (AP)—Two more players have signed with the Pocatello Cardinals of the Pioneer league, Business Manager Marvin Milkes said. They are Leo Singleton, who alternated between the outfield and the catcher position last year, and Gus Angelos, Salt Lake City, outfielder, who played in 12 games last year. This year, Singleton will try for a pitcher spot.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP) — Manager Eddie Dyer of St. Louis was resting comfortably after narrowly escaping serious injury when struck in the head by a batted ball in the Cardinals' morning workout at their spring training camp.

The accident occurred minutes after holdout Stan Musial, the Redbirds' slugging first baseman, came to terms with President Robert E. Hannegan.

After Dyer was revived and carried to the club house, Dyer was rushed to the hospital where X-ray pictures showed no fracture of the skull. His condition was described as "good."

TUCSON, Ariz., March 5 (AP) — Dale Mitchell, the Cleveland Indians' leading hitter in 1947, has pulled a back muscle and may be temporarily out of the lineup.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers bore down on fielding practice today before a hard rainstorm broke up their daily drill.

In a brief batting session, third baseman George Kell, Catcher Harvey Riebe and Pitcher Paul Trout landed solid blows from the offerings of Al Benton, Stubby Overmire and Freddie Hutchinson.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 5 (AP)—It looks as if Gil Coan, a rookie outfielder who once sported a $100,000 price tag, will make the grade with the Washington Senators this time. Manager Joe Kuhel of the Senators said today that Gil is improving on hitting curve balls. That weakness has kept Coan out of the majors.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Catcher Roy Partee, obtained from the Boston Red Sox, came to terms with the St. Louis Browns. Six Brownies still are unsigned. Partee is a former catcher for Salt Lake City of the Pioneer league.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, March 5 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, 13 pounds over his normal weight, arrived in camp and took part in the regular Brooklyn Dodgers' drill.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 5 (AP)—The Phillies came up with two training camp casualties today when Roy Cullenbine and Curt Simmons were injured. Cullenbine suffered a badly twisted neck when his car collided with another automobile while driving to the ball park. Simmons, promising rookie southpaw hurler, slipped on the turf and pulled a tendon in his left ankle.

On the SPORT FRONT With YOSS (The Podgy One)

Ye Olde Sport Scricener picks 'em up and puts 'em down—right here:

"When are we going to get that 'Little Madison Square Garden'?"

That's the question that is pounded on Ye Olde Sport Scrivener's ear drums not once but a hundred times each day.

That's a barrage of interrogations which the ancient word puddler has had to brave during the class A basketball tournament, from which hundreds have been turned away or have been compelled to watch in discomfort.

That's a question that brought from a gent for whom the podgy one has plenty of respect this statement: "If Twin Falls doesn't watch out, it will lose its place as a sports center."

That's the question that YOSS will answer when a half dozen citizens of a certain type who have the welfare of the community, and of course the kids, too, at heart, become just as interested in the project as this old typewriter tormentor.

What did old master, Mr. Rules Budge, say to those kids of his between halves of the game with the Rupert Pirates? That's the question the tournament fans are asking today because an entirely different Burley team took the floor of the second half.

Hurry! Hurray! Mr. Maury Doert and Mr. Jack Radtke of the Cowboys. A fan has given the podgy one the name of a pitcher who, he says, most certainly will win another pennant for the Wranglers. And all he will cost is a one-way ticket to the Agua Caliente training camp.

Remember Joe Zells of Detroit and Jack Howie of Flint, Mich., who umpired in the Pioneer league last season? When they've jumped up two flights and will call 'em in the class A Central association next season.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: Baseball is slowly waving itself into the sports picture as basketball begins to fade out.

No Ball Balancing Act

Don Farmer, Rupert center, and Jack Clark, Burley forward (you can just see his head and part of right leg) aren't balancing the ball on the tips of their fingers. They're trying to tip a rebound to one of their mates during their district tournament game here. Also reaching for the ball is Ed Freiburger, Rupert guard, while on the right waiting for the ball to come down are Robert Millard, Burley, center (19) and Junior Gibson, guard. SALT LAKE CITY, March 5 (AP)—The University of Wyoming Institute of Religion quintet from Laramie remained the only unbeaten out-of-state team in the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) M-men tournament after second round games were completed.

The Wyoming five won handily from Spencer ward of Salt Lake City 33-21 in a second round game in the championship bracket tonight.

Earlier, Mesa, Ariz., Cardston, Alberta, Canada, Aurora, Utah, and Cokeville, Wyo., had been eliminated in consolation bracket games. Carey, Ida., nosed Mesa Sixth ward outfit, 33-32, in the day's closest event.

Moscow's "red" square was so designated long before the communists.

Burley Meets Buhl as Pirates Face Bruins

Coach Rulon Budge's Burley Bobcats, a team that has come a long way in the last month, alone remained undefeated in the Magic Valley class A high school tournament after yesterday's round of three games. However, Coach George Hays' Rupert Pirates, Coach Grant Maughan's Buhl Indians and Coach J. S. "Monk" Halliday's Twin Falls Bruins still had a chance to the championship and also participation in the sectional tournament next week.

Coach Pete Taylor's Jerome Tigers and Coach Elmer Eddington's Gooding Senators during the day joined the Filer Wildcats and Oakley Hornets as eliminated quintets.

Bobcats Down Pirates

The Bobcats became the tournament favorites in the final game of the day by defeating the Pirates, 46-34—a feat that they weren't able to pull in their two Big Seven conference contests during the regular season.

For two quarters it appeared that the Pirates were to duplicate their performance of the regular season. They leaped into a 14-5 first quarter lead and were in front, 21-13, when the half was reached.

However, starting the second half the Bobcats scored on quick baskets. With the third quarter half over Jack Clark scored a long center shot that brought the score up to 21-18. Harold Loveless' lay-in then tied the score at 21-21. Freiburger's foul toss sent the Bucs ahead again, but Bob Millard sank a shot from the side of the court to again give the Bobcats a one-point lead. Pat Bell's foul toss knotted the count for Rupert, but Loveless slipped the ball into the nets with a long side shot to give the Bobcats a 23-22 advantage. Jack Clark's long dribble and lay-in added two more points to the Burley advantage. Junior Gibson then took Ball's missed free toss to score a field goal and Wallis Peterman scored on a free throw to make the score: Burley 27, Rupert 26 when the fourth quarter was reached.

Burley Pulls Away

Starting the final quarter, Millard sank a field goal from the side and Burley ran the score up to 35-26 before Rupert counted again, then on a side shot by Gibson. Thereafter, Burley steadily pulled away.

Clark was Burley's top scorer with 17 points, 16 of them coming in the second half. Gibson, with 12, led Rupert.

The Bruins remained in the tournament by downing Gooding, 23-16, in a tight-guarding game. The Bruins took a 7-2 first quarter lead and were out in front, 12-6, at the half. At the end of the third period they had a 18-12 advantage.

Nielson with 12 points paced the Bruins, while Rogers had seven for Gooding.

Buhl eliminated Jerome, 43-23, in a hard-fought game that saw three of the Indians' stars and two of the Jerome players ousted on five personal fouls.

Jerome jumped into a 11-7 lead in the first quarter, but Buhl was in front, 23-15 at the half. Jerome outscored seven points in the first minute of the third period but Buhl led, 34-27, when the final period was reached.

Dee of Jerome was the game's pacemaker with six field goals and five free throws for 17 points, while Mendini had 13 for Buhl.

Tonight at 7:30 Buhl will oppose Burley, while Rupert and the Bruins will tangle in the second game.

Amateur Fight Card, Wrestling Bouts on Saturday Night Bill

For those fans who aren't interested in basketball, in which the class A district title battle will be the feature, there will be two other sports attractions Saturday night: A professional wrestling program at the Filer high school gymn and an amateur boxing bill at Jerome high.

A newcomer to wrestling in this area, Al Szazz, 192-pounder from St. Louis, will battle Dave Reynolds, 188, Columbus, O., in the feature event. This will be a two-out-of-three-falls affair with a time limit of one hour.

In another bout over the same distance Jack O'Reilly, 189, claimant of the Australian championship, is paired with Ken Mayne, 191, Salt Lake City.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars post is sponsoring the mat bill.

Matchmaker Frank Davis of the Jerome A.C. will put in the ring at Jerome a 12-bout bill with a bout between Paul "Pepper" Martin, northwest Golden Gloves open lightweight champion, and Deloss Jones, Jerome, who won the novice 135-pound title in the same northwest tournament.

Davis said that he expects to introduce several newcomers in bouts on the program. One of these will be Bobby Riggs, a lightweight from the Magic Valley A.C. in Twin Falls. Several Gooding and Buhl fighters also are billed.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—
Stocks—Mixed; late support props leaders.
Bonds—Steady; recovery in Danish and Norwegian issues.
Cotton—Quiet; mill buying.
Chicago:
Wheat — Steady; very small price changes.
Corn—Steady; trade light.
Oats—May steady; deferred months lower on profit-taking.
Hogs—Steady to 50 cents higher; top $24.50.
Cattle — Steady throughout; upper grades absent.

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Late timid short covering and other buying propped individual stocks today although a wide assortment of market leaders failed to shake off minus signs.

Dealings were exceptionally sluggish until the final hour when activity quickened a bit as trends hardened. Transfers of around 600,000 shares, however, were among the smallest full session totals since last September.

Amusements such as Paramount Pictures, Twentieth Century-Fox, Loew's and Warner Bros., lately hovering around record lows, pushed up approaching the finish on talk of a possible compromise of the British film tax. Utilities did better.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close but numerous minus signs of as much persisted.

Bonds were fully steady with a number of foreign loans reviving.

Analyst Sees 'Sunshine' in Union Parley

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It isn't often that the sun breaks through the clouds over Europe these days, and there's always blood on the moon of a night, but a splash of sunshine is playing about the Brussels conference which is considering a union of western Europe to halt the advance of aggressive communism.

It's far too early to make any predictions, of course, for it was only Thursday that the five nations got together—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, the last three known as the Benelux countries. Still the very fact that they are meeting is in itself a historic development which might lead to great things—even to the birth of a new Europe in due course.

This conference has been hanging fire for some time—an idea which hadn't quite jelled. It took the bolshevist assault on helpless Czechoslovakia and the threat to little Finland to bring the five nations together on the jump. For the Czechoslovakian coup was a brutal warning that the red menace might strike next in western Europe.

The conference is debating the idea of a treaty and alliance for mutual benefit and protection. There are four aspects to the proposal—political, economic, cultural and military. Of these the military is the most important because the other three can't be implemented until that is taken care of.

The Brussels parley is faced with the obvious danger that unless there is concerted action to hold the bolshevist advance, Italy is likely to fall a victim, and France will be in grave danger. Both these are key nations in the western European structure.

14 to 20 of Ship Crew Missing in Mishap on River

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 5 (AP)—Fourteen to 20 crewmen were dead or missing today from the 180-foot towboat Natchez, which rolled over and sank last night after a treacherous Mississippi river current swept it against a bridge piling near here.

Capt. William A. Howell of the towboat Sohio - Latonia, which brought 11 survivors here, said "there could hardly have been any others" saved.

The Natchez carried a normal crew of 28, but survivors' figures on the actual number this trip varied from 26 to 32.

Howell witnessed the end of the Natchez from his pilot house.

"The current caught her and rolled her over," he said. "She went down in about a minute. The men below—firemen, engineers and so on—had no chance. The men picked up were mostly deck crew."

The Sohio-Latonia picked up nine survivors, of whom two died on board. Four other men, rescued by other boats, were transferred to the Sohio-Latonia to be brought [illegible] at Cairo, Ill., [illegible] for the [illegible] been [illegible]

[illegible] U. S. Rate of Births Sets Mark

NEW YORK (UP)—Some 3,900,000 babies were born in the United States in 1947 to set an all-time record, the National Industrial Conference board reports.

The first two years after the war produced far more babies than the first two years of the war, when births jumped to a new high, the board said. In fact, the second year of the war, 1943, produced 1,700,000 fewer babies than were reported for 1947.

The increased number of births had boosted the population by 13,000,000 since 1939. However, 1948 births are expected to fall below those of last year because 300,000 fewer couples were married in 1947 than in 1946.

Joint Fair for Mini-Cassia Is Grange's Plan

RUPERT, March 5 — The Minidoka Pomona Grange has gone on record urging a bi-county fair with Cassia county.

The resolution calling for the bi-county fair pointed out that the Minidoka county commissioners should share the expense for the operation of such a fair.

A report on the Mini-Cassia market cooperative was given by T. L. Stymer. Secretaries of all subordinate Granges were requested by Pomona Master Roy D. LaRue to send a complete list of their membership to the Pomona secretary.

A second term was started in school using two members. Members of the senior are Joyce Culley, Ray Goff, Janie Nyblad, Doris Chamberlain, Eleanor Goodrich and Barbara Buckley. A piano solo was played by Betty May.

A basket dinner was in charge of Mrs. Dorothy Chapman, Mrs. Paul D. Rogers and J. R. Culley.

The next regular meeting of the Pomona Grange will be held at 8 p. m. May 28 in the Pioneer school.

Extension Agent Gives Gardening, Landscape Talks

Anton Horn, representative of the University of Idaho extension service, lectured on landscaping and gardening at a meeting held Thursday in the Idaho Power company auditorium. He was to conduct a similar lecture in Buhl Friday.

Main purpose of the meeting was to give information on Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's program for 30,000 "freedom gardens" in 1948. Horn told how the gardens would release more food for needy Europeans and help local citizens meet the high cost of living.

He also described how consumption of fresh-cooked vegetables would result in better diets and more tasty meals.

Speaking on landscaping, Horn illustrated his talk with colored slides. During the exhibition he gave tips on improving home landscape designs in this area with appropriate choices of plants and hedges.

Horn was introduced by Florence Schultz, county home administration agent, who made arrangements for the lecture.

U. P. 'Old-Timers' Plan Resort Fete

POCATELLO, March 5 (AP)—The Union Pacific Old-Timers' club will hold its 21st annual dinner and dance in the Hotel Utah at Salt Lake City, March 23, Herbert Lundsky, president, announced.

F. H. Knickerbocker of Salt Lake City, executive assistant of the line, will receive the 35-year service award.

Lundsky announced the Pocatello club will sponsor a Sun Valley meeting May 1 for members and kin in Las Vegas, Nev.; Grand Junction, Colo.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Salt Lake City, Ogden, Nampa and Glenns Ferry.

'Pen' Population At 8-Year Peak

BOISE, March 5 (AP)—Addition of two prisoners during the past week has raised the Idaho state penitentiary population to the highest since 1940.

Warden L. E. Clapp said there are now 357 inmates at the penitentiary.

Latest arrivals are Wayne E. Lowe, sentenced in Nez Perce county to serve 15 years for burglary, and Walter Stewart, returned from Lemhi as a parole violator.

Magpie Drive

BOISE, March 5 (AP)—A drive against magpies is in full swing throughout the state with many Idaho wildlife federations clubs spearheading the attack.

Idaho state fish and game department officials said that bounties of seven cents each were paid on 68,354 magpies during 1947. The bounty is the same for 1948.

Game officials urged that effective methods be used to kill the birds early this spring before they nest.

Returning the Favor

When Maj. John Haslen, of Winchester, Mass., was dropped with his battalion of the 101st airborne division near Bastogne, Belgium, during the battle of the bulge, he found his men needed white camouflage suits to hide in the snow. Hemreville's mayor gathered up all the sheets in town and gave them to Haslen. Recently Haslen returned to Hemreville with 700 sheets, donated by the residents of Winchester and repaid the debt.

In his haste to answer pealing church bells that signal the arrival of Major Haslen in Hemreville, the youngster at left, above, slides down the snow-covered steps of the "Butte Montmartre." At right, Mayor Haslen repays his debt in one of the Belgian homestrewn who gave up her sheets to protect his men in Dec. 1944.

Marshall Hands Congressmen Some Foreign Policy Pointers

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Any consideration of European recovery, the Truman doctrine on Greece and Turkey or aid to China finally leads to an appraisal of U. S. foreign policy.

It isn't surprising, therefore, that when Secretary of State George Marshall appeared his $570,000,000 Chinese program to the house foreign affairs committee, the questioning developed into a free-for-all that covered the globe and bounced back frequently to the Russian question.

Peter Edson

Rep. John M. Vorys, R., O., began it when he asked if the situations in Greece and China weren't similar. If it's all right to give military aid to fight communism in Greece, why not in China?

Marshall pointed out some differences. Most of the people in Greece, he said, were not on the side of the guerrillas. The Greek-backed government enjoyed considerable support from outside Greece. Marshall's intention was that in North China the people are actively supporting the communists.

Rep. Karl Mundt, R., S. D., raised the question of U. S. policy in Germany. It was obvious, said Mundt, the Truman administration wanted to get some of the Marshall plan program. He was referring to ex-Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau's wartime plan to reduce Germany to a farming country by destroying its manufacturing capacity.

Mundt also charged the administration with exporting to eastern European countries types of products which enabled communists to undermine western Europe. Bluntly Mundt said he wanted to know what steps were being taken by the state department, other than those of the U. S. enemy all over the world?

There were serious challenges, with apparent calmness, Marshall patiently set to work to answer. With respect to the Morgenthau plan, Marshall said General Clay in Berlin had only recently declared that he considered Germany an important part of Europe's economy and that recovery was essential.

Marshall also pointed out that U. S. representatives were now meeting in London with the British and French. These powers want to make Germany economically strong—short of allowing her to become a military threat. A further purpose was to lessen the burden on the American taxpayer.

Marshall said the U. S. had an interest in the far east, the Mediterranean, Europe and Latin America. Conditions differed in all. To come in with one estimate for all at one time was not practical.

In China the American aim was to bring about a degree of stabilization. In Greece the purpose was to make a solid, self-contained country as a bulwark.

On shutting off exports to Russia, Marshall said the U. S. had to be careful not to upset normal trade relations. The desire in Europe was to re-establish normal east-west trade—again to reduce the burden on America.

Mundt was not satisfied with this brief summary of foreign policy. He had a feeling, he said, that in order to work out agreement with Russia, there should be rules of reciprocity. He mentioned that last year 3,000 Russians had been admitted to the U. S. The Soviet had even refused to let a group of senators inspect the U. S. embassy in Moscow. Mundt demanded a stiffening of policy.

Marshall admitted the situation was disagreeable. But the U. S. was struggling for certain freedoms. Reciprocity had to be carefully weighed for its end results. "It is simple to break off negotiations," said Marshall. "It is hard to make them run."

Rep. Walter Judd, R., Minn., raised the question of the Yalta agreement which gave 30-year Manchurian port and rail rights to Russia. Marshall had to admit he had no part in making the terms of that agreement, though he attended the Yalta conference as chief of staff. At that time he felt it important for Russia to commit herself in Manchuria to break Jap power in China.

Today's difficulties over the Yalta and Potsdam agreements were the same, said Marshall. They were in trying to get Russian compliance to statements that were in themselves clear.

When Rep. John Davis Lodge, R., Conn., proposed trying to renegotiate those agreements—particularly as they applied to reparations for Russia—Marshall was skeptical.

"We must abide by the agreements," said Marshall. "We should not start reconsideration. If we put in the opening wedge, the whole thing falls apart."

Two Film Writers Start Script for Sun Valley Show

SUN VALLEY, March 5 — Two Hollywood script writers, Miss A. Cooper and Jerry Davis, arrived in Sun Valley Thursday to begin work on the script for the "Duchess of Idaho," a MGM picture starring Esther Williams and Van Johnson.

The "Duchess of Idaho" is to be a summer-time picture and filming is scheduled to begin in Sun Valley Sept. 15.

Filming of snow scenes for "That Wonderful Urge" a 20th Century Fox film staring Gene Tierney, will start here March 15. About 50 per cent of the picture will be filmed on Sun Valley snow.

Otto Lang, executive director of the Sun Valley ski school, will direct the skiing sequences.

Party Card of Union Leader To Be Tested

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Congress has called on the FBI for fingerprint tests of a Communist party card allegedly issued to Herbert E. Sorrell in 1937 under the party name of "Herb Stewart."

Sorrell, president of the AFL-Conference of Studio unions, has sworn under oath before a house labor subcommittee that he was never a member of the Communist party. The committee has been investigating movie labor troubles.

Violence Recounted

Earlier the committee had heard a story of dynamiting by Chicago mobsters, skull-cracking and other violence in a Hollywood movie strike.

Sorrell told the committee that the trouble started after the arrival in Hollywood of Willie Bioff.

The communist-card angle was injected into the hearing after Sorrell testified that the same "conspiracy" existed in the Hollywood movie industry as in the old Bioff-Browne days.

Racketeer's Agent

Bioff, who was convicted of extorting $550,000 from the producers under threat of calling a nation-wide strike of movie operators, was formerly Hollywood agent for George E. Browne, Chicago racketeer, when Brown was president of the AFL-Stagehands union.

"This conspiracy goes on now and has since 1935," Sorrell testified. "When Bioff went to jail for extortion, some of the producers should have gone with him for conspiracy."
